AMERICAN LEAGUE

WHITE SOX CLINCH PENNANT.

Even a Loss of All Remaining Games Would Leave Chicago Ahead.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 21. — Chicago made its capture of the 1917 American league pennant a certainty today by defeating Boston, 2 to 1, in ten innings. Should Boston win all its 12 remaining games and Chicago lose all the eight contests remaining for it, the final standing of the teams would show Chicago leading by half a game as follows: Chicago, won 97, lost 57; Boston, won 98, lost 57.
The hitting of Catcher Ray Schalk was the biggest factor in Chicago's clinching the pennant. Urban Faber of Chicago pitched perfect ball for six innings and in ten innings was hit safely but five times, having the better of Leonard of Boston. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York Markets.

New York, Sept. 21. — Following the lead of the copper shares which were stimulated on the fixing of a price of 23½ cents for the metal, the stock market at the opening today gave the best exhibition of strength of any time since the turn of the market came on Wednesday. Quotations were carried up rapidly with gains of one to two points on many shares for the first two minutes of the trading. A reaction was quickly felt, however, and the market was pressed below yesterday's last figures. During the greater part of the session movements were regular and narrow. Total sales were 165,000 shares.

The price fixed for copper was regarded as satisfactory not only because it put an end to the severe selling down of prices but caused the belief that it forecasted how the government will treat other commodities. The coppers developed pronounced strength on the late upturn, with a gain of 8½. Steel shares were also active and strong. There were few weak spots among the industrials, including motors. Canadian Pacific, in the rails, was heavy.

There was an unusually active de-

McMullen May Sub For Weaver in World Series

FRED McMULLEN

McMullen, utility infielder of the Chicago White Sox may play third base in the coming world series with the Giants. McMullen has been substituting for "Buck" Weaver since the latter broke a finger several weeks ago and has played the position brilliantly ever since. It is doubtful if Weaver will be in condition to play when the big series starts, so it looks just now that McMullen will be at third.

URGES TRAINING IN GYMNASIUMS

Physical Expert Points to Value of Gymnasts.

GERMANY LEARNED LESSON

Taught 100 Years Ago by Crushing Defeat at Hands of Napoleon—Her 2,000,000 Men Unable to Hold Out Against Superior Numbers—Origin of Sports Traced to Battlefields.

Dr. Dudley A. Sargent, noted Harvard physical expert, in a message to America declares that the more than 2,000,000 gymnasts in the German army and the nation wide gymnastic training of the German youth are responsible for Germany's ability to hold out so long against superior numbers.

Over a hundred years ago Germany learned her lesson from her crushing defeat at the hands of Napoleon and since then has trained her youths in the national German gymnastic societies, Dr. Sargent declares. England has only learned this lesson since this war started and has paid dearly for not realizing it before. Dr. Sargent says:

"Germany, beaten to a standstill by Napoleon in the early part of the last century, learned a very important lesson. A few years later (1812), under the inspiring leadership of Father Jahn, the German youth were brought together, gymnastic societies were established, and country outing and recreation clubs were formed in hopes of regenerating what had begun to be a rapidly deteriorating people.

"In attempting to invigorate her youth through the physical activities Germany harked back to ancient Greece and Rome and based her system of physical training largely upon their experiences.

"Physical education was first brought into prominence among both the Greeks and Romans as a preparation for war.

Once Weapons in Combat.
"It is a curious and interesting fact that most of the portable apparatus with which our modern gymnasts are equipped, such as Indian clubs, wands, single sticks, quarter staffs, fencing foils and sabers, iron shots, javelins and bows and arrows, were once used as weapons in combat.

"The heavy apparatus, such as storming boards, scaling ladders, scaling walls, climbing poles and leather covered horses and licks, have all played their part in training soldiers for the battlefield.

"Many of our athletic sports have their origin in their supposed resemblance to personal conflicts, in their attack and defense, flight and pursuit, etc.

"The antagonistic sports, such as wrestling, boxing, football, come nearer to real war than any other, and one great source of the present day popularity is that they awaken in us those primitive fighting instincts that have been developed through centuries of fighting and contending.

"Many of the experiences of the present war are already beginning to revolutionize modern army tactics, but it is safe to say that no experience will ever lessen the value of manly vigor and physical hardihood.

German Lead Followed.

"Many of the European nations followed the lead of Germany some years ago and made some form of gymnastics a part of the regular school program and a requirement of every possible soldier. Some nations, like England, for instance, have adhered more tenaciously to athletic sports and games and devoted too little attention to gymnastics. Germany, France, Italy, Sweden and other nations have devoted much attention to formal gymnastics and until recent years not enough time to athletic sports and games.

"Both gymnastics and athletics have their strong and weak points if relied upon exclusively as a preparation for war.

"Gymnastics afford the best way of exercising and developing large numbers of men together and instilling into them habits of obedience, discipline and self control, which are the chief requisites of the soldier.

"Athletics afford the best way of training men individually, developing in them resourcefulness and power of initiative, together with courage, self reliance team play and the fighting spirit, which are also most valuable qualities to be possessed by the modern soldier.

"Germany undoubtedly had a great initial advantage in the beginning of the present war in having so many men who had received gymnastic as well as military training.

"It is estimated that there are over 2,000,000 men today in the German army who are present or past members of the great German gymnastic societies."

Eleven Acres of Land.

The earth has a trifle less than 107,000,000 square miles of total surface. A little over a fourth of this surface is land 53,000,000 square miles of it. And of this 28,000,000 square miles, or a scant fraction over a half, is soil that can be used for food production. The rest is desert, mountain range and polar regions. A little of this might possibly be reclaimed, but not very much.

So here we have two vital facts in the practical geography of today: There are 1,800,000,000 people on the earth to feed, and 28,000,000 square miles of tillable land with which to do it. Or, reduced to figures in which we are more accustomed to think, this means that one person must live off the production of every eleven acres on an average of the world over. Don't say "It can't be done," for it must be done or somebody will starve.—Farm and Fireside.

INEXHAUSTIBLE ICE.

Pick Kept So All Who Wish May Chop Supply.

Ice can be found the year around in a cave at Bixby's park, near Edgewood, one of the beauty spots of northeastern Iowa. On the hottest day of summer ice can be chopped from the sides of the cave with a pick which is kept there for that purpose.

Bear creek races and splashes through the park between steep, heavily timbered hillsides, 300 feet high. The canyon is several yards wide and two miles long. The creek has native trout in it. The park has been maintained as a public recreation center by its owner, R. J. Bixby, for nearly twenty years.

BUILD ROADS NOW.

Good Highways of Greatest Importance in Wartime, Says Official.

"We must as a nation wake up to the fact that roads are not only necessary in times of peace, but are of the greatest importance for the mobilization of armies in times of war," asserts State Highway Commissioner George P. Coleman of Virginia.

"A marginal highway, as set forth in the Chamberlain-Dent bill, along the Atlantic coast, the gulf of Mexico, the southwestern border and the Pacific slope and later along the northern boundary line should receive the indorsement of all the people in this country interested in its protection and its future development.

"All of us are possibly alive to the fact that roads are necessary for military purposes, but few people realize that in the construction of the important highways of this country many years will be consumed. Therefore it is important that this great work should be started at an early date and pushed with as great rapidity as possible to its final completion.

"While main artery roads command priority and require rugged and costly construction the tributaries must not be neglected, for in many instances these feeders upon occasion serve a vital purpose, even though not subjected to heavy traffic except intermittently.

"If the national government relieves a state of that road which has the greatest military worth it still remains the bounden obligation of the commonwealth to supply a comprehensive state system of the most important inter-county roads and then to give some aid to the counties in the building and maintenance of the lesser roads. It is almost impossible to say positively what roads may meet the military emergencies, and in consequence there must be a correlated plan, the cost of which must be shared by the national government and state and county.

"It has been suggested that war prisoners can be logically employed in military road construction, and one finds himself much inclined to agree with the suggestion of the national committee on prisons that we utilize whatever foreign prisoners we have or will possess. Most of these men undoubtedly will be kept in southern states where the need of trunk road construction awaits the earliest possible attention."

Tower of London.

A royal palace, consisting of no more than what is now known as the "White Tower," appears to have been the beginning of the Tower of London. It was commenced in 1078 by William the Conqueror and finished by William's son, William Rufus, who, in 1098, surrounded it with walls and a broad ditch. Several succeeding kings made additions to it, and King Edward III erected the church. In 1838 the old White Tower was rebuilt, and in the reign of Charles II, a great number of additions were made to it. The new buildings in the Tower were completed in 1850.

Seasickness.

The old-fashioned notion that a good dose of seasickness was beneficial was due wholly to the fact that upon recovery the victim of mal de mer is usually so delighted that he is apt to imagine that he never felt better in his life, while feeling normal again is merely so great a contrast to the exceedingly wretched condition which this disorder brings about that exaggeration of one's feelings is the most natural thing in the world. Seasickness is far from pleasant. It is not beneficial, and in rare cases it terminates fatally.

+ YOUR PRESENT TO THE MARINE.

+ Make your present to the marine as compact and durable as possible, is the admiration of marine corps officials whose experiences in many campaigns have taught them the needs of the fighting man.
+ The important things are those that the marine actually carries into the trenches—metal cases for toothbrush and soap, razors, water tight match boxes, steel backed mirrors, and only articles that stand exposure to the weather are of value. Though of good quality, they should not be expensive, as such articles are frequently lost. Clothing boxes, kept in reserve billets back of the fighting line, will hold articles not actually in use by the United States marines.

RAPE FOR SWINE.

Furnishes Abundant Protein When Corn is Hogged Down.

Rape seeded at the last cultivation of corn will furnish abundant nutritious feed for hogs in normal seasons when corn is "hogged" down. Some feed high in protein is essential to supplement corn for best results in pork production.

By suspending on each side of the cultivator a tin can with a small hole in it rape seed may be distributed in the cornfield without extra labor in seeding. From one to two pounds of seed to the acre is the usual rate. The Dwarf Essex variety is most commonly grown.

Some high protein feed must be fed with corn for most rapid gains in fattening hogs, tests at the Ohio agricultural experiment station have shown. Tankage and skim milk may be fed when corn is hogged down. Rape or some other green forage crop, such as clover or alfalfa, will serve the same purpose and often is cheaper.

Waldo and the Pickled Peppers.

"Now, dearie," said the nurse, "I want you to learn this nice little poem about 'Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers.'"
"Shan't!" answered the Boston child, much in the manner of other children.
"Oh, naughty, naughty! Why, Waldo, why won't you learn this pretty poem?"
"For two reasons," answered Waldo. "In the first place, the alliteration of the line you quote is so excessive as to destroy any literary finish that such adventitious aids to metrical composition might lend if used more sparingly. And, in the second place, consider the impossibility of picking peppers which have already been pickled. The whole thing is beneath the attention of any intelligent person."

LOCALLY OF INTEREST.

Our Congratulations.

The congratulations of The Star are extended to Judge Abraham L. Kellogg, who at the primaries on Wednesday was by a decisive plurality nominated as the Republican candidate for supreme court justice. The result was not different from what had from the first been predicted in this county, where and in Delaware his personal popularity, joined with other considerations of locality and fitness gave him an overwhelming vote. As the district is strongly Republican in every county, there is no doubt of his election.

Congratulations should be extended also to the city of Oneonta, which cannot fail to see the advantages which accrue from the location of a supreme court justice within its boundaries. And to the counties of Otsego and Delaware on the fact that they are still to have a conveniently located justice, and that for 14 years more at least the 70-year-old custom of placing such an official in the eastern counties of the district will not be abrogated.

Congratulations, moreover, should not be wanting to the many Republicans in other parts of the district, most of them in counties wherein no merely local considerations could have had weight, who recognized the justice of the claim made for Judge Kellogg by Otsego and Delaware and gave him a good vote and in all save four counties substantial majorities. That their confidence will not be misplaced they can confidently be assured. Of long experience both as attorney and as judge, he will bring to the bench, in the event of an election, which practically is assured, qualities in accord with its highest traditions.

A Generous Proposition.

The proposition made by representatives of Otsego's labor organizations on Tuesday evening last that they be permitted to hold a meeting in Municipal hall on Wednesday next for the purpose of making plans for raising funds for the purchase of a motor ambulance for the Fox Memorial hospital, naturally met with prompt approval on the part of the city council. That the meeting will be largely attended and that prompt action will be taken is probable, as the men at the head of the movement are energetic in action alike in their own lines of industry and in whatever for public good is undertaken.

The need of such an ambulance will be conceded by whoever stops to think of it, though naturally it has appealed most forcibly to organized labor of the city, since the cases in which quick action is necessary are perhaps more frequent among their membership than elsewhere. With these men to think in to act, and the meeting called for next Wednesday is the outcome.

The gentleman who appeared before the council on Tuesday expressed the conviction that the necessary sum, which will be about $2,500, can be raised without asking assistance outside of the labor organizations; and their desire to accomplish this unaided can well be understood. At the same time there are doubtless many others who appreciate the need which the labor men of the city expect to supply, and if need is they will gladly aid in carrying the project to fulfillment.

Now That Fair's Over.

Favored from first day to last by nature and the elements, the fifty-fourth annual exhibition of the Oneonta Fair society came to an end yesterday. Early in the afternoon many of the exhibits in the livestock department were on their way homeward, and before nightfall the poultry building was deserted and the many departments housed in Floral hall had denuded the walls, shelves and cases of most of their attractions. Naturally the side shows and other concessions are last to go, but before nightfall today these, too, will have folded their tents and stolen away to other fairs, but it can scarcely be expected to any held under fairer skies.

If there was anybody dissatisfied with the exhibition this week, he has yet to reveal himself. As from day to day has been noted the attractions have been first class, the exhibits inspiring and educational and everything which was promised has been fulfilled—though this is always true of the Oneonta management. This in fact has been the secret of the fair's continued success in years when many other associations have had hard sledding.

Here's to the Oneonta fair! May it live long and prosper!

Eight Years Old—Wins Nine Prizes.

Miss Polly Harris, the eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. B. A. Harris of South Broad street, Norwich, received awards for eight first and one second premium in the children's competition in sewing and baking at the Chenango county fair. She received first on sugar cookies, nine drops, sold chocolate cake, nut bread, and cup cakes in the food class, first for her rag rug, second for cross stitch dolly, first for cross stitch hot roll case and first for her embroidered apron.

UNIQUE MASONIC EVENT.

Degree Conferred by Father and Six Brothers on Seventh Son.

An event unique in Masonic history was that which took place at Evergreen lodge No. 354, Springfield center, Saturday evening when the degree of Master Mason was conferred upon Kenneth Davis, Branch of East Springfield, by the father and six brothers of the candidate. Fully one hundred and twenty-five Masons representing many of the lodges of Central New York were present to see the work and partake of the delicious chicken dinner served by Evergreen lodge.

The father of the candidate, Charles N. Branch of East Springfield himself a past master of Evergreen lodge, acted as master and the other stations were taken by the following brothers: Senior Warden—Fayette H. Branch, Washington, D. C.

Junior Warden—C. Harry Branch, Williamstown, Conn.

Senior Deacon—Leon Walrath Branch, Mohawk.

Junior Deacon—Robert D. Branch, Williamstown, Conn.

Senior Master of Ceremonies—Dr. George L. Branch, Catskill.

Junior Master of Ceremonies—Dr. Frederick D. Branch, Binghamton.

The latter will be pleasantly remembered in Oneonta, where he was formerly employed in the Ford drug store.

Delhi Agricultural School Notes.

The Delhi State School of Agriculture begins its third annual session Tuesday October 2. It is desirable that all students register on that date, yet arrangements will be made to allow students who must help on the farm until later to make up back work.

R. S. Jeffers, instructor in farm mechanics, has enlisted in the department of forestry engineers and has been given leave of absence by the school during the war.

Mr. Brooks, instructor in poultry, is doing extension work for the State College of Agriculture until school begins.

Students having three years of high school work will as far as possible be given an opportunity by the faculty of the Delhi Agricultural school to take subjects in high school, allowing them to secure the high school diploma. Plans are under way whereby Regents credits may be earned for certain subjects taken in the agricultural school.

DELAWARE AND HUDSON FREIGHT

Goods After Oct. 1 Forwarded from Albany on Fixed Days to Many Points.

The Delaware and Hudson company on Thursday threw its weight with other railroads of the United States in plans for eliminating unnecessary costs by the standardization of freight shipments. Schedules of "sailing days" for freight shipments from Albany to all points on the Delaware and Hudson system and connecting lines were made out and approved.

The schedules are based on plans worked out by Charles W. Nash, traffic manager of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, and Frederick P. Gutelius, vice president and general manager of the company. The schedules will become effective October 1.

Under the schedules announced freight shipments will be accepted only on the days as listed, as follows:

Tuesdays—Binghamton, Colliers, East Worcester, Maryland, Schenectady, Sidney and Worcester.

Trip days—Binghamton, Colliers, East Worcester, Maryland, Schenectady, Sidney and Worcester.

Fridays—Binghamton, Colliers, East Worcester, Maryland, Schenectady, Sidney and Worcester.

Shipments to all other stations, including Oneonta, are accepted daily.

Freight for a car for Sidney and all points on the New York, Ontario and Western, and the New York, New Haven and Hartford, will be accepted Tuesdays and Fridays.

No orders have as yet been received in Oneonta relative to restriction of freight shipments from this city.

Nothing But the Truth.

Announcement is made that G. M. Anderson and Lawrence Weber will present "Nothing But the Truth" at the Oneonta theatre for one night only, Friday, September 28.

"Nothing But the Truth" played a solid year to capacity houses at the Longacre theatre in New York city, outliving any farce produced in Manhattan last season.

The play, which is by James Montgomery, is based upon a most unique idea that tends to keep its audience in gales of laughter from the moment the curtain rises to the last word.

A brilliant company of farceurs has been assembled and the producers are certain to give our theatre patrons something to remember in the way of farce comedy.

Pined for Disorderly Conduct.

A misunderstanding as to the rules for parking a car in front of the fire house led to an altercation between Fred S. Gilbert, the driver of the automobile, who was also a visitor to town, and two of the firemen. A fist fight resulted, which was stopped when Gilbert was arrested. He was arraigned before City Judge Shove and fined $10 for disorderly conduct. He paid the fine.

Hops in Cherry Valley.

The hop crops in this vicinity have been pretty generally picked up by the buyers. David Blumensack of Springfield secured 81 cents per pound for his crop, as did William Harvey and Nelson L. Wadde of Salt Springsville. George Flint of East Springfield sold at near that figure. Sales have been made in Schoharie and Madison counties at 55 cents. —[Gazette.]

Violations of Fish and Game Laws.

The New York State Conservation commission announces that during the month of August three fines were imposed in the county of Delaware, one each for polluting streams shooting trout and snaring fish in trout waters. The total fines were $123. In Otsego county there was one fine of $11 for using a set line without a license.

Arrested for Stealing Hides.

Four men were arrested by detectives of the D. & H. yesterday morning, charged with illegal train riding. The men, Frank Guin, William Pitches, Louis Gunstadt, and Walter Hall, none of them with any place of residence, are held in the local jail pending arraignment later.

BATTLECRIES.

Famous Sayings of American Commanders Will Fly Over Camps.

Here are five battlecries of freedom that, painted on banners, will float from the five new camps of the Great Lakes naval training station:

Camp Paul Jones: "I have not yet begun to fight."

Camp Farragut: "Damn the torpedoes! Go ahead!"

Camp Perry: "We have met the enemy, and he is ours."

Camp Decatur: "Take good aim and she will soon be a sloop."

Camp Dewey: "Tell Admiral von Diederich and his Kaiser if they want to fight they can have it now!"

Fame, Anyway.

Scribbler—Did you hear the story about poor Streeter, the poet? Wrote—No. What was it? Scribbler—He wrote a poem, "Joys of a Dog," and the police came around the day it was printed and made him take out a dog license, which came to more than he got for the poem. —New York Globe.

Man and the Dog.

We are alone, absolutely alone, on this chance planet, and amid all the forms of life that surround us not one, excepting the dog, has made an alliance with us. A few creatures fear us, most are unaware of us, and not one loves us. —From a Maeterlinck Essay.

SUPERVISORS TO MEET

To Select Successor to C. F. Farmer as Commissioner of Elections.

Charles F. Farmer esq. has filed his resignation of the office of commissioner of elections for the county and B. G. Johnson esq., clerk of the board of supervisors, has called a special meeting of the board of supervisors of the county to be held at Cooperstown on Tuesday next to select a successor. Mr. Farmer being the Democratic member of the board it is probable that a representative Democrat of the city will be chosen. Mr. Farmer's resignation follows his nomination by the members of his party at the primaries on Wednesday for the office of county clerk.

In Appreciation.

The management of the Oneonta fair, through the columns of The Star, wish to express their appreciation to the superintendents, the gatekeepers, the policemen and all other employees, to the participants in any of the various exhibits and to our delighted visitors who by their words of praise to their friends and neighbors helped swell the attendance and make this the most successful fair in the history of the society.

Suffragists Active to Last.

The final day at the fair was a busy one at the suffrage tent. Two excellent speeches were made by Mrs. Lucy Weldon, the organizer, who is at work in the county, and by Mrs. J. McCarty Jr., the head of the local organization. Both were heard with satisfaction by all. During the day many mothers with babes availed themselves of the rest privileges of the tent.

The Otsego County Home Economics club's exhibit at the fair has attracted much attention from visitors. The clubs of Maple Grove, Maryland, Worcester, Mt. IDEAL FAIR WEATHER

Union Agricultural Society Closes
Most Successful Exhibition
in Its History

LAST DAY'S ATTENDANCE LARGE.

Aviator Domonjouz Makes Cross Country Flight to Milford to Carry Greetings of Manager Wilber to Residents of His Native Town—Races Close and Exciting on Final Day.

What is quite generally agreed as the most successful exhibition in the history of the Oneonta Union Agricultural society closed with another successful day yesterday. The combined attendance has beaten all records and the weather has been the most perfect for a week's fair the association has ever experienced. True, the weather was threatening two mornings, but before the day had progressed far the clouds cleared and well high perfect weather prevailed during the afternoon. The special attractions which are coming to be such a feature of all country fairs have been the best the society ever has presented—in fact are equal to the best found at any country fair the nation over. The financial returns have been the largest and in every feature, including the races, the fair has been eminently successful.

At 11:30 o'clock winning entries in the horri parade and prize winning cattle and horses were paraded around the track and in front of the grand stand, headed by the Oneonta City band. As the float of the Woman Suffrage party came in front of the grandstand it halted for a moment while Miss Elizabeth Gleason, head of the music department at the State Normal school, sang America, and in the chorus of which the hundreds gathered about heartily united.

Despite the fact that a chilly breeze blew over the roof garden the crowd with the same perfection as on the previous and warmer days of the fair. One feature alone was omitted—the high dive of Mme. Eggleston—and the applause which greeted her as she climbed down the lofty ladder was just as hearty as when she dived with death by her plunge of 85 feet into the shallow tank. Mme. Eggleston gave a captivating series of fancy dives from the low springboard, but the breeze blowing at the top of the ladder was so strong that she feared to take the chance, and after standing for a quarter of an hour on her lofty platform, waiting for the wind to die down, she finally gave up, much to the satisfaction and relief of the sympathetic crowd and the fair management as well.

Aerial Visit to Milford.

For many years it has been the wish of George I. Wilber to have some real aviator deliver a message through the air to his home town folks at Milford and yesterday Birdman Jean Domonjos brought to fulfillment Mr. Wilber's dream. Ascending from his station on the Kerr flats, South Side, Domonjos rose rapidly and headed straight up the Susquehanna valley, flying over the little village of Portlandville, dropping messages from Mr. Wilber and continuing on his way to Milford where he alighted on the old home farm near the village. Here he took on a fresh supply of gasoline and then flew over the village, circling twice about the spire of the Methodist church, where Mr. Wilber attended Sabbath school when a boy and after dropping more messages from Mr. Wilber, headed his machine toward Oneonta, arriving here about 45 minutes after he started on his trip up the valley. The messages delivered by Domonjos, and which were eagerly picked up by the Milfordites, contained the following brief story of the flight: "Greetings from George I. Wilber to his old home town, dropped from the clouds via Central New York fair, Oneonta, N. Y."

Fast Time in Races.

The best time made in the race meeting were hung up yesterday in both the Free for All and in the 2:15 pace and 2:11 trot, though first moneys were won without the necessity of running extra heats. In the Free for All Koroni, the Brusie gelding, took three straight miles from Miss Cuba Clay by neck finishes, with Sir Laine, the favorite, close enough to make a corking third. Bellinardine, the Gibson trotter, seemed to have little trouble in winning the 2:18 pace and 2:14 trot, but she was compelled to step the miles in 1: and a fraction to nose out Jesse Y., another Brusie house.

YOUNG MEN LEAVE AT 7:20
O'CLOCK.

Will Be Joined at Cobleskill by Schoharie Contingent of 60 Men and Delmar by Another Delegation of 55 Men—Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., for Training.

Not drafted but "selected" to serve their country in the time of her need, 34 men from Oneonta and surrounding towns leave at 7:20 this morning for Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., where they will be incorporated into what Secretary of War Baker claims will develop into the finest body of military men that the world has ever seen, the National Army of the United States. These men have the distinction of being chosen by the most democratic method that could have been devised for the most democratic job in existence.

The men will travel to Camp Devens via the Delaware and Hudson, Boston and Albany, and Boston and Maine railroads, arriving at their destination at 5:10 p. m. A special train will be provided at Albany. The contingent from the upper end of the county, 17 strong, in charge of Arthur P. Root of Cooperstown, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and were lodged at the Windsor hotel for the night. They will proceed with the local men this morning.

At Cobleskill the contingent from Schoharie county, 60 strong, will join the company and at Delmar another delegation of 55 men from that section will unite with the party.

At 1 p. m. yesterday afternoon, the time set for the men to report and after which they were in the military service of the country, every man was at the office of the local board. After brief instructions they were released until 7 last evening when they were given a short drill in the state armory by Harry J. Perrine, ex-sergeant of Company G, who will be in charge of the contingent. After the drill the men were allowed to go home or to the hotel with orders to report at 7 this morning.

It is unfortunate that some recognition for these men, who are leaving all that is dear to them to fight for their country, has not been arranged. Although the hour of departure is early, it is suggested that every citizen who can possibly arrange to do so be at the station to give them a send-off. Be their departure hurried or not, however, the men know that the county is behind them and will watch their future movements with deep interest. They are our honor men.

HIS NOMINATION CONCEDED.

Judge Kellogg Has Over 1,100 Majority for Supreme Court Justice.

Revised figures received yesterday from all the 10 counties in the sixth judicial district make certain the nomination of Judge A. L. Kellogg of this city on the Republican ticket for justice of the supreme court. The complete figures, with practically every election district in the 10 counties heard from, gave Kellogg 9,131 votes, Hill 8,013, Tuthill 7,524 and Parsons 2,340.

Judge Kellogg carried Chemung, Delaware, Madison, Otsego and Schuyler counties. Judge Hill carried Chenango and Cortland, and ran second in Delaware and Madison.

Mr. Tuthill carried Broome, Tioga and Tompkins. Judge Kellogg had a plurality of 1,116 over Judge Hill, of 1,607 over Mr. Tuthill, and of 5,782 over Judge Parsons.

In the two districts of the town of Laurens there were 106 Republican votes cast, and Judge Kellogg received every one of them, as was the case also with the 57 Republican votes in the first Burlington district. In Laurens, as a further evidence of popularity, 12 Democrats of the township wrote in his name upon their ballots. As no other name for supreme court justice appeared on any Democratic ballot, he has the distinction of being the unanimous choice of Laurens Republicans and Democrats. His corrected plurality in Delaware county is 1,309.

Happy-Go-Lucky.

We all like it. We don't like to think. Let the other fellow do the thinking. This won't do right. We play the game as 4,600 Oneonta people are playing it. They are simply extending the happy-go-lucky game to the time when they get old, by placing small amounts each month, which is being accumulated to two million dollars, so that when daddy or mamma gets old, the kids will be glad to bring them their shippers or pipe and give them the best and warmest room in the house. Yes, the prospect of leaving a portion of that two million dollars for the kids, makes them awful good to the old folks, and this happy-go-lucky game is being made possible by the safe six per cent compound interest system of the Oneonta Building and Loan association, which is protected by state laws, same as savings banks. "Nough Sed." Advt 11

The Republican town caucus, to nominate town officers to be voted for at the general election Nov. 6, 1917, will be held at the town house in Dav- enport Center Saturday, Sept. 29, 1917, at 2 p. m. By order of Republican Town committee. Advt 51

SUDDEN DEATH ON WEST STREET.

Mrs. Cora E. Thomas Expires Last Evening After Brief Illness.

Mrs. Cora E. Thomas, widow of the late Dr. George W. Thomas, for many years a dentist in Oneonta, died at about 7:30 o'clock last evening at her home, 23 West street in this city. Though Mrs. Thomas had not been in usual health during the summer, her condition was not such as to cause any uneasiness and on Thursday she attended the fair. Yesterday morning her son, Dewey, left the house at about 9 o'clock, his mother being then apparently in her usual health, but when he returned about noon he found her helpless but not unconscious upon the floor. Medical aid was at once summoned, and though everything possible was done for her relief she soon became unconscious and died at the hour stated. Death was caused by apoplexy.

Mrs. Thomas was 47 years of age and was a daughter of George D. and Margaret G. Ward, then of South Kortright. She was married to Doctor Thomas about 20 years ago and had ever since resided at the home on West street where she died. She was a member of the United Presbyterian church and was devoted to its interests. She was a loving mother, an affectionate daughter and a kind friend and neighbor, and by all who knew her was greatly esteemed. The date of the funeral, owing to the absence of some members of the family, has not yet been fixed. It will be announced in The Star of Monday.

The deceased is survived by the son above named and by two stepchildren, George Thomas of Captain Millard's field bakery, now at Spartansburg, S. C., and Miss Charlotte Thomas, an instructor in the schools of Lafayette, Ind. She leaves also her mother, Mrs. Margaret Ward, and two sisters, Mrs. W. H. Seward and Mrs. John Volwider of Oneonta; three aunts, Mrs. Mary Hill and Miss Agnes Ward of Oneonta, and Mrs. J. L. Forman of Lynn, Mass.; and a brother, John H. Ward of Oneonta. Robert P. Hill of this city is also a nephew of the deceased.

INJURED IN D. & H. WRECK.

Five Cars Demolished or Splintered When Freight Stops Abruptly.

The sudden application of air to the brakes of a Delaware and Hudson freight late yesterday afternoon to avoid a collision with a work train resulted in the complete or partial demolition of three empty freight cars, the telescoping of two others, and the injuring of Frank W. Brooks, 28 years old, a trainman, of Cohoes.

Running toward the yards and pulling 84 empty cars, engine 1094 was following slowly behind a work train, using in relaying tracks, when opposite the station of the Ulster and Delaware railroad, the work train came to an abrupt stop. The engineer of 1094, to avoid a bad accident, threw on all his air at once. As a result cars in the center of the long freight buckled up, throwing one over on its side off the trucks, splintering two others, and causing a fourth to break from one set of trucks and mount on top of a fifth.

Brooks, a trainman on the freight train, was caught in the wreckage and his back was badly bruised and wrenched, just how badly will not be known until a thorough examination has been made. He was taken to the Fox Memorial hospital.

The accident happened at 5:50 and delayed all trains on both north and south tracks from 20 minutes to an hour.

MAKES OUR GUNS DEADLY ACCURATE

War Department Tests Prove Value of New Device.

GIVEN TO THE GOVERNMENT

Cartographer Invents Map Making Projectors for France and Belgium and Donates Them to Uncle Sam—Directs Fire of Big Guns With Great Accuracy—No Possibility of Errors.

In modern warfare, with high power, long range guns operated by indirect fire upon an unseen objective, not even the quality of powder, the explosive power of the projectile's charge or the accuracy of the cannon's rifling is of more importance than the absolute accuracy of war maps with which the exact positions of batteries, supply depots and troop concentration centers are located. The redrawing and correction of errors in the existing maps of France and Belgium are among the most vital labors upon which the engineers of the American army are now engaged.

For the expedition of this work the war department has accepted a unique invention known as the Bumstead map projector, designed and perfected by A. H. Bumstead, chief cartographer of the National Geographic society. Three of the Bumstead projectors, which the inventor has declined to patent, the idea being donated to government use, have been delivered to the war department, where they have been fully tested and found to be absolutely accurate.

Quick Mechanical Process.
These three projectors, made of nickel-plated brass, will meet all the present needs of the army topographical staff. By means of these, parallels and meridians, the bases on which all important field maps are constructed, can be "laid down" in twenty minutes, where the ordinary method requires from three to four hours. In addition, by the use of this device the possibility of error through miscalculation is eliminated entirely, the whole process being mechanical.

The projectors are corrected to one five-hundredth of an inch, and as the scale to which they are made is one to 20,000 (about three inches to the mile), there could not occur from the use of this projector an error of more than forty inches in any calculated distance or direction. If a high explosive projectile hits within forty inches of the object at which it is aimed it is fairly safe to assume that for all practical purposes the map is a success, for there would not be enough left of the objective to determine whether it had sustained a fair hit or a mere "shock."

Mathematical Accuracy.
The map making department of the National Geographic society has been at work for two months preparing the Bumstead projectors. Absolute mathematical accuracy was required, and scientifically perfect graduating tools were used in engraving the scales marking the degrees on the big brass sheets, which measure 23 1/2 to 32 1/2 inches and are 4-100 of an inch thick, weighing twelve and a half pounds. They are not designed for rough and tumble work, however, as a single dent in one of the plates would destroy its accuracy. But heat will not affect them, as expansion and contraction will be proportional for the length breadth and size of the incisions. The projectors just completed are designed for plotting degrees, minutes and seconds of latitude lying between forty-five and fifty-five degrees north, which include the territory on the battle fronts in France and Belgium, the Russo-German fronts from the Baltic to the Black sea and the Austro-Italian Trentino front. If maps are required subsequently for the Macedonian front new projectors cut to the different latitudes, will be required.

Where Miners Lose Their Nerve.
Men accustomed to working in mines cannot stand great heights. It is almost an invariable rule that a miner will get dizzy and uneasy if you take him to a high place, such as a monument or the top of a house and will try to get back to earth as soon as possible. And yet he can stand underground on the edge of a 500 foot shaft, look down into the black abyss and never feel a tremor. He can climb up the face of a shaft, knowing that there is a straight drop of a thousand feet under him, and feel perfectly at home—Exchange

Navy Accepts Latest Air Titan After a Thrilling Night Flight Over Big City

Only Officers and Crew Are Aware of Dirigible, Which Hovers for Eight Hours Over Theater Goers, darting Taxies and Slumbering Workmen—Built by Great French Engineer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 22nd.—The Navy Department announces today its acceptance from The B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron of the first of the two huge Blimp type non-rigid dirigible balloons which that great corporation had been constructing under the personal direction of Henri Julliot, the noted French aeronautical engineer. In laconic form does Uncle Sam dismiss the scintillating romance that attaches itself to the tests, to the very construction itself—how the dirigible roamed the heavens at night brushing against vagarious clouds, flirting with twinkling stars and passing with purring motors at low and high altitudes over an unsuspecting metropolis. Below the cabarets and restaurants hung their lights into the low hanging night mists, the crowds moved lackadaisically hither and yon and save for the dozen or so silent naval officers and experts who stood circlewise searching the firmament no one suspected the presence of an aerial visitor—from which conclusions might be drawn why it is difficult to discover Zeppelins in night raids over England.

Up Eight Hours

For eight hours the dreadnought of the air remained aloft, and all the time it hung over the great city "Somewhere in America." For eight hours the critics stood in the night still air, sometimes conversing in low tones but for the most part remaining silent with eyes glued to the sky. A dramatic picture, indeed, was Julliot, the "Super Zeppelin" of France, who maintains that his special experiments and successes anticipate those of the late Count Zeppelin. The moonbeams caught him in restless pose, constantly peering to and fro and stroking his imperial and breaking nose and then into vivacious speech in French. Although most of the "lighter than air" craft now in use on the British and French coasts are the results of his handiwork, his eagerness to convince the American government of his great ability was conspicuous. At length, when the naval officers had announced their recommendations, tears of joy streamed down his cheeks and his whole frame shook with emotion.

Knabenshue Pilots Car.

Roy Knabenshue was the pilot. Promptly at a designated hour—for obvious reasons a night flight was more desirable to the government than a day one—Knabenshue, than whom there is none better, leaped nimbly into the gondola, buttoned up his leather coat and started the huge propeller. Mechanicians followed suit. A few minutes later the big machine rose gently and climbed into the night. The major portion of its twenty mile course lay over the city ablaze with light and a considerable part over a large body of water. Once beyond the lights of the city Knabenshue had only the stars and his instruments to guide him. With the precision of the taxi drivers in downtown New York, Knabenshue maintained the trial speeds successfully, making every turn in the air-course and finally winding his way to sea to a small tug which marked the point where the return voyage was to begin. So carefully had the motor and the big fins which steer the monster been tested that not a hazardous moment marred the flight. This marked the finish of the first flight which satisfied Navy Department officials and engineers that it was capable of making its required speed.

Final Test Endurance.

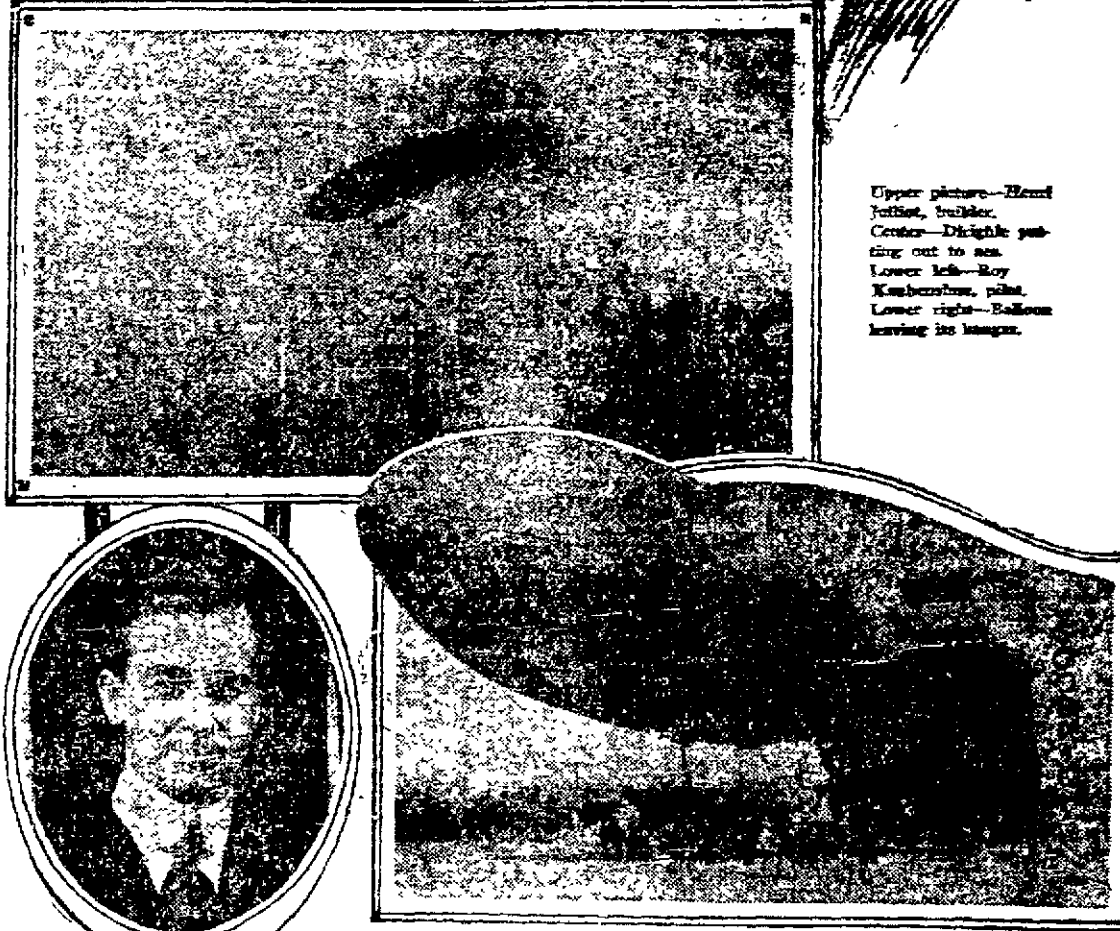

The final test was that of endurance. To accomplish this it was necessary that Knabenshue cruise about leisurely among the clouds for hours and put the big craft through maneuvers which would convince the observers beneath him that the dirigible was air-worthy and would keep our coasts clear of hostile battle fleets. At times the giant balloon attained an altitude of 5,000 feet and then again it remained as low as 600 feet.

After the flights M. Julliot gave some interesting details on the action of dirigibles in the air, their little peculiarities and their susceptibility to atmospheric conditions. He said:

"An experienced pilot is necessary to guide one of these big craft. For instance you might be flying serenely along in the sun and suddenly the sun might pass behind a cloud and you would find yourself dropping rapidly. The cooler air has caused the gas in the envelope to contract. Then again in experiments I have found that in the sun lighted air you can cause a dirigible to drop suddenly by simply placing a leaf on top of it. Then again at night, when the air is cool, the ascent or descent of the balloon can be controlled by the direction of a powerful searchlight on the bag."

Julliot Talks.

In discussing the importance of the dirigible and its relative position with the airplane, the Frenchman said:

"Your government is thoroughly alive to the possibilities of the lighter-than-air craft. Its advantages for certain purposes over the many types of airplanes and seaplanes lie in the fact that it answers the requirements of both. The pilot is the complete master of its speed and direction. He can remain stationary for hours or fly in a circle, or attain a speed of forty-five miles per hour under the same conditions. When the wind blows the big bag becomes part of it and moves at the same speed. If the pilot wishes to change his course from that of the wind he opens the gas cocks of the bag and seeks a lower strata of air or throws out sand or water ballast until he has risen to a higher strata where he can again pursue his course at will with his powerful eight cylinder driven propeller. You cannot do this with a airplane. You are either rising or falling and at the same time maintaining a high speed."

Pantaloons Girls Help.

Much credit for the construction of the bag goes to girls and further emphasizes the part they are playing in war preparations. During the makeup of the envelope girls in pantaloons worked in the Goodrich plant carefully sealing the rubber plies. In fact most of the work on the bag was done by girls.

"Safety first" is the slogan, the accomplished Frenchman emphasized. "After the envelope had been completed, had it pumped partly full of air, entered the rubber void and then with an electric light reflected against the outside went over every inch minutely to safeguard against small leaks."

MARINES AND ARMY RIVALS.

Keep Up Traditional Attitude In France.

Way up at the end of this camp, apart from "those army people," are the United States marines, the fellows who bought $60,000 worth of French war loan just as a starter, says a dispatch from the field headquarters of the American army in France.

Army fellows have to come up to the marine camp occasionally to have their teeth fixed or their feet repaired by the marines' experts. Aside from these few invasions the marines don't suffer the presence of their ancient rivals.

The chiropodist is a Boston boy who studied foot culture in Philadelphia and enlisted there when war was declared. His book of operations shows a record of thousands of marching blisters, hundreds of troublesome corns and a long list of miscellaneous foot troubles cured since the expedition came to France.

With their own headquarters their own billets, their own instructors and a training ground all to themselves, the marines are managing to keep the line drawn between themselves and the army. They claim their streets are a little cleaner, their manners a little better than those of the army. And it was a sort of a challenge to the fellows in khaki when the marines pulled off their sudden financial drive with that contribution of gold to the French war funds.

Test Milk Carefully.
If milk contains 4 per cent fat an error of 1 per cent fat in testing will cause a difference of 2 1/2 cents on the dollar or 3 1/2 cents on the price of 100 pounds of milk selling at $1.50.

A PRAYER

Somewhere across the infested sea,
Serving the cause of liberty,
Dear Lord, is my brave son
I know not how he fares tonight,
But keep him ever in thy sight,
For I have but the one!

Thou gavest two to bless my life,
But one fell early in the strife—
My first beloved son!
The heart when it is silent
And then a message came one day:
"Dear Lord, I have but one!"

Then, while so sorrowed and bereft,
Though only he to me was left,
I could not say him nay
Who urged that duty bade him go—
His country called, he said, and so
I knew I had but one to say!

But, O dear Lord, 'tis hard to bear,
With not another child to share
The heart when it is silent
I can but kneel to thee and pray
Be with him through the hellish fray
And keep him safe my son!

I know the cause is good and true—
I know that suffering must ensue
Before the fight is won
Yet bear with me, O Lord, this night;
Be thou my savior in my plight
And guard me only thou!

AMERICAN EFFICIENCY SURPASSES GERMANY'S

Called Our Entry Into War a Bluff—How We Have Repplied to This.

German efficiency has been held up as a degree of excellence unattainable by a democracy. The accomplishments of the United States since April 5 last refute the truth of the claim, says the Blue Railroad Magazine. In the short space of time since that day the United States has accomplished the following:

Declared a state of war as existing between this country and Germany.
Seized ninety-one German ships and begun repair work on them.
Authorized unanimously a war fund of $7,000,000,000.
Appropriated $600,000,000 for merchant shipping and as much for air fleets.
Agreed to loan our allies $3,000,000,000 and advanced them a large proportion of that sum.
Passed a selective draft law and in a single day registered nearly 10,000,000 men for military service.
Enlisted 600,000 volunteer soldiers in the regular army and in the national guard of the states.
Sent a commission to Russia to aid democracy there and a body of railroad men to Russia and another to France to advise and assist in railroad transportation in those countries.
Began the construction of thirty-two camps for our soldiers.
Sent to England a fleet of destroyers.

and to France a detachment of troops. Authorized and now enforcing embargo whereby our enemies will receive more food or material from us.

Passed a food conservation law. Organized many voluntary commissions and boards that are aiding the government and the people in the speeding up of work, conservation of food and other national movements.

Drafted by lot 687,000 men for military service.

While the government was accomplishing these things the American people have loaned the United States $2,000,000,000 and offered $1,000,000,000 more, over 4,000,000 citizens subscribing to the loan.

In addition they have given over $100,000,000 to the American Red Cross and $3,000,000 to the Young Men's Christian association.

All these things were accomplished while our soil was not invaded or even threatened with invasion and without any disturbance of business conditions. All was done with the calm determination and judgment of an earnest, patriotic people performing a service for civilization and mankind and maintaining the rights, the dignity and the honor of the greatest nation in the world.

The German leaders derided America's entry into the war as a bluff. This is our answer.

Invitation Declined.
The convicted man had just received his sentence and was being led out. "Poor man! Is there anything I can do for you?" asked a sympathetic woman from the audience.
"No, mum," said the prisoner. "I less you'd like to do this three years."

Scours in Calves.
Scours occurring after a calf is a week or two of age is due to some error in feeding. In feeding calves all vessels should be thoroughly scalded every day, the milk should be fed at body temperature and they should be fed regularly. Do not overfeed, and if skim milk is used they should have a small amount of a grain mixture consisting of equal parts of cornmeal, bran and linseed meal. To check the scours observe above suggestions and give in feed two or three times a day a tea spoonful of dried blood or a little powdered ginger.

Sweet Clover.
Sweet clover makes excellent pasture and has a distinct advantage over the common clover or alfalfa in that cattle pastured on it do not bloat. Furthermore, it is well known that cattle eat sweet clover with avidity after they have become accustomed to the taste of it.
